THE COSMIC TRINITY

HEAVEN 天

Heaven is the hand you are dealt. It is what is given to you, not by your choosing but by forces beyond your control. Your date of birth and who your parents are prime examples. The country you are born in and the economic status of the country at that point in time are sometimes what we call fate. You cannot choose and influence these factors, but it can certainly affect your destiny.

MAN 人

This can be classified as FREE WILL and the conscious decisions you make. How you choose to spend your time, who you decide to hang out with and what risks you allow yourself to take. The sum amount of these choices determines the quality of our lives. The name of the game is consistency and discipline. Eating, spending or even learning habits continuously shape, mold and influence your life, sometimes without you even noticing.

EARTH 地

Modern science has shown that the environment helps to shape a person. The people in that environment, the inanimate things in that environment as well as the living environment itself all play a role in influencing a person's personality, behaviour and habits. In Chinese Metaphysics, Earth is where we talk the invisible forces and energies that influence someone. Some of you know this as Feng Shui.

"Fate is when the girl of your dreams walks in the room. Destiny is if you decide to approach her or not."

MAN: THE 7 ASPECTS OF LIFE

TOMORROW BELONGS TO THOSE WHO HEAR IT COMING

How we use Chinese Astrology to Forecast The Year of The Earth Boar 2019

David Bowie is a legend. He was an established singer, songwriter and actor but perhaps what made him extraordinary, was his mastery in recognizing trends and artistry in self-reinvention.

No one can predict the future. But great leaders and successful individuals know that the ability to see what's coming equals power. Forecasting plays a pivotal role in modern management of a business as well as personal life. It's a systematic way for you to probe the future with data, facts and patterns.

A great strategist or investment specialist would study movements of markets, the tiny shifts of prices or even geopolitical changes that are all happening in order to do their forecast. In Chinese Metaphysics, we look for metaphysical data and cross reference it between the various systems of Feng Shui, BaZi and Qi Men Dun Jia. I will then present my technical observations before overlaying this information on the global, national or personal stages.

The Earth Boar At A Glance

The world today is now more connected than ever. A change of government, overheating markets or rising tensions between 2 superpowers affects everyone. The pace of life is getting faster, and the turbulent economic and competitive environment looks to be making an encore for 2019.

And like 2018, you'll continue to see, hear and even feel the sluggishness, but just like in 2018, you'll also be shocked to realize that certain economies and industries have quietly grown and even achieved record-breaking fiscal years.

The big story for 2019 is likely how to manage the continued expansion and pace our inevitable change. The seats at the table of global power are being reshuffled. Technology will be a catalyst for these shifts. We may generally look forward to a turning point sometime in October.

The above is the BaZi chart for 2019 (Year of the Earth Boar) and is generally divided into the hour, day, month or year pillars plus stems, branches and hidden stems. We look into its entirety as well as the individual boxes or the relationships between these components to interpret it's meaning.

THE 7 [Seven] ASPECTS OF LIFE

This guide has been designed as a tool to improve or influence these 7 aspects in a person's life.

Copyright © 2019 by Joey Yap Private Limited

In using this guide effectively, it's important to be clear on what your goals are within the next 12 months. After you print this guide, read the descriptions on left column of each aspect, reflect on your own life right now, then ask yourself what is it that you really want to achieve in the next 12 months? Remember, be specific as possible whilst keeping your goals real.

1. Mentors

A mentor is someone who inspires you, connects to you, and most importantly, open up your mind without making passing judgments. They can help guide you through your life journey. A mentor can also appear to be a temporary 'villain' in your life which could also contribute to your achievements.

2. Wealth

Wealth is like a three legged stool – each leg represents a different aspect of wealth, namely your financial security, living with purpose and having a healthy mind and spirit. The absence of any of the three will make the structure incomplete. It takes them all to create real wealth.

3. Career

We all crave for the career that fits us like a glove that brings us joy and satisfaction. But the harsh truth is that there are a lot of people who are stuck with wrong jobs and end up struggling. Did you know though that your birthday can be used to map out a solution to most of your career related problems and uncertainties?

4. Romance

Healthy relationships are a vital component of your mental health and well-being. Strong relationships can contribute to a long, healthy, and happy life. Turning to astrology, more specifically, the synastry, will help you find some answers to achieve the perfect relationship.

5. Family & Friends

There's a pillar in your chart that governs your friends and acquaintances, the people you spend your everyday life with when not at work.

6. Health & Fitness

Your astrology is usually able to give several clues regarding your health and what you might be able to do to improve or even to avoid the problems you have or may arise.

7. Assets

Assets can be broadly categorized into physical and non-physical resource that has an intrinsic value returning yield overtime. Acquiring a piece of land or acquiring knowledge and experience are considered assets.

HEAVEN: THE 12 ANIMALS FORECAST

PART 1

SO, WHICH ANIMAL SIGN ARE YOU?

The Chinese Zodiac 十二生宵 is based on a twelve-year cycle with each represented by an animal sign. During the ancient times, the Chinese sages and astrologers chose to use farm animals to represent these stars so that it's easier for the peasants whom are mostly farmers identify them.

These signs are the rat, ox, tiger, rabbit, dragon, snake, horse, sheep, monkey, rooster, dog and boar. It is calculated based on the Chinese Lunar Calendar system and the 10,000 year calendar. Each animal sign is also paired with 1 of the 10 elements (Earth, Fire, Water, Metal or Wood) in either the Yin or Yang polarity. For instance, 2018 is known as the Earth Dog 戊戌 and 2019 is the Earth Boar 己亥.

Here are some popular misconceptions about the Chinese Zodiacs

Normally, a person identifies him or herself with the animal zodiac of the YEAR he or she is born in.

For example, if someone is born in 2018, he or she is a Dog. Or if someone is born in 2019, he or she is a Boar. Reading a forecast of an animal sign based only on the year, is at best ¼ complete. The reason is simple, a person actually has FOUR animal signs nested in his or her own BaZi chart. There are four pillars, Hour, Day, Month and Time of birth forming eight characters (hence the name BaZi which directly translates to Eight Characters). On the top is the Element and the bottom the Animal Sign, each representing the different kinds of Qi imprinted in your chart and thus, one's Destiny.

Here's a table illustrating the Year and Animal signs of each.

EARTH: YOUR 2019 FENG SHUI

MASTERING YOUR ENVIRONMENT

TAPPING INTO POSITIVE ENERGY TO CREATE A BETTER LIFE

The Annual Flying Stars is derived from a system called the Xuan Kong Flying Stars (玄空風水). It's basically one of the formulas used in Chinese Metaphysics to map out the Qi (Energy) based on the current astrological movement of the stars. As the stars move (or Fly) to different sections every year, the energy of each section will be affected by the star of the year in that direction.

So, what does this do for you?

Knowing the possible effects of the stars, you can activate the strongest sectors and carefully reduce the effect of the weakest sectors in 2019.

Feng Shui (風水) is all about Qi (Energy, 氣) flow and it is derived from natural forms; not from man-made objects. You don't have to put a funny statue, frog, water painting or whatsoever to invite more luck and wealth. Just by studying or doing your work in the right sector, you can activate the good stars and benefit from the energy the star brings in 2019.

Let's dive in...

Basic Steps to applying Feng Shui to Your Home

1 Whip out your floor plan and box it off to get a perfect rectangle (Refer to the red line). Then, get the center point of your property (Refer to the red dotted line).

2 Stand at the center point (marked x) and use a compass (an app from your phone is also acceptable) to get the direction.

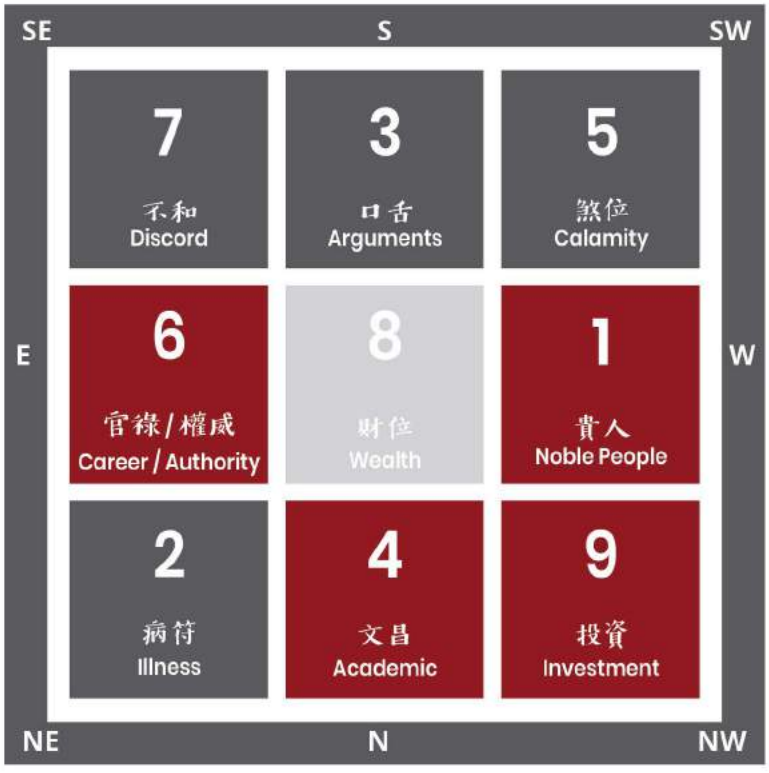
Copyright © 2019 by Joey Yap Private Limited

3 Segment your floor plan into 8 quadrants as shown below. Mark the respective directions of the house (North, NorthEast, East, and so on).

Tips:

Don't have house floor plan? Don't worry, you can DIY it! You just got to make sure that the floor plan is proportional to the actual property.

Don't bother adding the balcony or external lifts into the floor plan. Flying Stars chart will only be applicable to the interior of your home.



Using this simple nine grids, you will be able to identify the favorable and unfavorable sectors of your home (as shown in the diagram on the left) and make more or less use of the corresponding rooms.

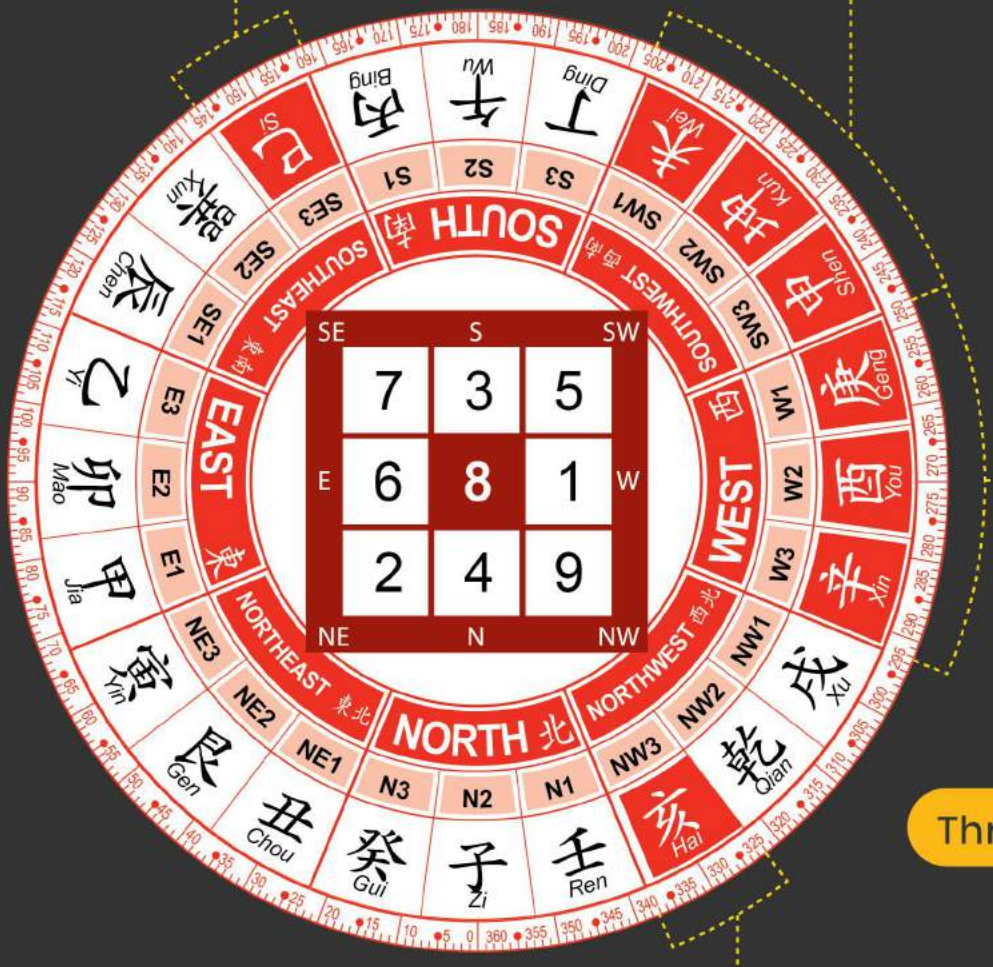
Year Breaker 歲破

Five Yellow 五黃



Three Killings 三煞

Grand Duke 太歲

Copyright © 2019 by Joey Yap Private Limited

SOUTHEAST 3

Year Breaker歲破 (142.5° – 157.5°)

Wherever the Grand Duke arrives in any year, the opposite direction becomes the "Wrath of the Grand Duke". For 2019, the Year Breaker would be in Southeast 3. As you might have guessed from the name alone, this sector is another no-go zone. Activating the Year Breaker is a bad idea in general, even more so compared to activating the Grand Duke negatively.

If you have any prior arrangements or plans to make changes in this area, they'll have to wait. Save it for another time, as it would require less effort to avoid potential problems than to handle it.

SOUTHWEST

Five Yellow 五黃 (205° – 252.5°)

The Southwest sector is another area to be avoided this year, as it becomes the host for the Five Yellow. To avoid any unwanted events from happening, there shouldn't be any activities conducted in this sector. This includes seemingly inconsequential labour such as nailing or drilling the wall. Any plans to remodel or refurbish the sector should be postponed to a later date.

If it just so happens that there are inhabitants in this direction, perhaps a study room or a bedroom, it should be relocated elsewhere for the entirety of the year. Trouble becomes your friend if this sector continues to be used and this is one friend that would stick with you throughout the year. Leave the Five Yellow alone and 2019 will be smooth sailing for you.

JOEY YAP Copyright © 2019 by Joey Yap Private Limited

Three Killings 三煞 (232.5° – 307.5°)

As 2019 rolls around, the West sector of the house should be treated with caution, as the Three Killings star occupies this space. It would be advisable to ensure that this sector remains undisturbed. This will ensure that the negative effects will not manifest.

This particular star can be activated through any substantial changes to the immediate environment. This includes renovations, breaking of walls and ground-breaking ceremonies. Such activities would disrupt your everyday life and you might find it difficult to find some peace of mind. In worst-case scenarios, you might have to deal with the loss of material possessions, compromised health, accidents and robbery if this star is in effect.

Grand Duke 太歲 (322.5° – 337.5°)

As this is the year of the Earth Boar, it is Northwest 3's turn to become the Grand Duke. The negative effects of this sector can be avoided altogether by not performing any activities here. It is important to note that these directions don't just apply to where you live, but where you spend most of your time in as well.

This means you should be mindful of where you are in your office or places where you do work. It is unfavourable not only to reside here, but to face this direction as well. However, it can be beneficial for you if you put your back facing the Grand Duke. This would allow you to have more control in your workplace and exercise authority better.

Avoid Renovation

If your house is facing Southeast 3, Northwest 3, and Northeast, it'll be best to shelve renovation plans for your house in the Earth Boar year (4th February 2019 until 3rd February 2020).

It is not an ideal time for renovations to be done to houses with these three facings, as it will trigger the negative energies and affect the tenants of the home.

TIMING & SIGNIFICANT DATES: THE 2019 LUNAR NEW YEAR GUIDE

Chinese New Year

Chinese New Year is the time for new beginnings and fresh starts. It is the time of year where large family dinners, reunions, and gatherings are celebrated; rooted from ancient traditions and rituals.

Although the main focus during Chinese New Year is predominantly on family reunion, there are many other customs that are carried out in the 15 days of celebrations. Many people do not realize that the origins of these practises, traditions, and rituals are actually based on Chinese Astrology and Metaphysics.

11 THINGS YOU PROBABLY DIDN'T KNOW ABOUT CNY

11 FACTS ABOUT THE CHINESE NEW YEAR

1 IT IS ALSO KNOWN AS THE SPRING FESTIVAL

Did you know that the Chinese New Year is also known as the Spring Festival? Why? According to the lunar calendar, this day marks the beginning for Spring. Back in the days, the Chinese would look forward to begin this season as it marks the end of the coldest part of winter – giving them a reason to rejoice and celebrate!

2 EACH CHINESE NEW YEAR STARTS WITH A NEW ANIMAL ZODIAC

Many might not know that there is a legend revolving around the 12 animal signs. As the tale goes, there was a day where the 12 animals argued as to who was to head the cycle of the years and as a result, a contest was held: whoever was the first to cross the river would be the first, and the rest of the animals would receive their years according to how fast they complete the task. While all animals jumped into the riverbank and started the race, the rat jumped on the back of the Ox instead and jumped off just when the Ox was about to climb ashore. The Rat won and that is why the Rat is the first year of the animal cycle, the Ox second and so on.

3 THE ORIGIN OF LUNAR NEW YEAR AND THE LEGEND OF NIAN

Legend has it that thousands of years ago, there was a monster called Nian and every first day of the year, the beast would awaken and terrorize the people in the village, causing the villagers to live in fear. The villagers then started using loud noises, the color red and bright lights to scare the monster away. The color red and noise is what it hates the most. As such, the Nian never returned to the village again. And so, the people of China continued this tradition of making noise and decorating their houses in red during the new year – a tradition which spread to other parts of the world as well and stayed till this very day.

4 1 OUT OF 6 PEOPLE ON THE PLANET CELEBRATES CHINESE NEW YEAR

Chinese New Year is not only celebrated in China, but is also observed in many other places around the world - Hong Kong, Taiwan, Malaysia, Vietnam, Singapore and some other Asian countries as well. With time, the festive celebrations has expanded and spread out to the Western side of the world - New York, London, Sydney, Vancouver (to name a few) making Chinese New Year one of the world's most celebrated festivals!

5 THE ANG POW TRADITION 紅包

The ang pow practice dates back to the Qin Dynasty where the elderly would thread coins with a red string to gift the younger generation as Ya Sui Qian – means "money to ward off evil spirits." This was believed to protect the recipient from sickness and death. The Ya Sui Qian was later on replaced by red envelopes when printing presses became more common and is now found written using the homophone for sui which means "old age" instead of "evil spirits." From then on, Red envelopes continued to be referred to by such names till today.

6 THE CHINESE NEW YEAR DATES CHANGES EVERY YEAR

The Chinese New Year is celebrated following the lunar calendar – which is based on the time the moon takes to go around the Earth - 29.5 days. And in order to 'catch up' with the solar calendar, the Chinese adds an extra month once every few years (the same as how an extra day is added on a leap year), which explains why the new year falls on different dates every year according to the Western calendar.

Copyright © 2019 by Joey Yap Private Limited

7 NO ONE USED TO KNOW WHAT YEAR IT WAS

According to legend, the lunar-solar Chinese Calendar is dated back to 2637 B.C when it was invented by Emperor Huangdi during his ruling. Prior to that, the Chinese never took the initiative with numbering sequentially. In fact, till today, there is no one universally accepted starting point. But it has generally been agreed that Year 1 corresponds to the supposed first year of Huangdi's rule in 2698 B.C which makes this upcoming year to be 4711.

8 WORLD'S LARGEST EXODUS

Chinese New Year period is also known to be the season of the largest human migration in the world. The annual epic travel rush happens during this time of the year where no matter where they are, people try their best to return home for a family reunion during the Chinese New Year holiday.

9 BAI NIAN 拜年

Bainian is a major activity during the Chinese New Year. It means to go around visiting friends and relatives and bringing along some "gifts" for them. In the Chinese community, it is especially important for the younger generation to have "Bainian" to their elders as a sign of respect. Bonus Tip: One of the most popular gifts to give for Bainian during the Chinese New Year: BLUE TIN BUTTER COOKIES!

11 LI CHUN 立春

What many might not know is that the beginning of spring is actually known to the Chinese as Li Chun. It marks the first out of the 24 terms in the Chinese solar calendar and falls between the 3rd or 4th of February every year; when the sun is at the celestial longitude of 315°. Something unique is known to happen every year on this day - it is said that it's much easier to balance an egg on its end. Some explanation has it that this strange phenomenon is due to the sun crossing the equator, making night and day equal on all parts of the earth.

Traditionally, Li Chun is an important day to the ancient Chinese farmers. They would often celebrate the beginning of Li Chun with ceremonies and worships for a prosperous harvest year. This practice is carried on till today with the belief that if you deposit money (since harvest is a symbol of prosperity) during this day, it will bring you a good start and welcoming money luck for the upcoming year.

10 RECEIVING THE GOD OF WEALTH IN 2019 接財神

Many Chinese families worship the God of Wealth. Each CNY, they set up altars and rituals to welcome or receive Cai Shen （接財神） at auspicious hours.

What people don't realise is that in the ancient days, the Chinese astrologers and scholars used deities to name the stars so as to not confuse the peasants or farmers.

CUSTOMS & TRADITIONS

This day is actually regarded as the actual New Year for the Hokkiens because it is believed that the Hokkien ancestors were protected by the Jade Emperor (Lord of the Heaven) through hiding in a sugarcane plantation from the 8th to the 9th of the lunar calendar. They hid from being massacred by the ruthless army in ancient China. Because this day is regarded as such, the Hokkiens would offer prayers and offerings to the Jade Emperor.

Start the Hokkien New Year by maintaining a good relationship with relatives. Feast and drink in moderation during this festive season, lest it takes a toll on your health.

Known as Stone Day, it is forbidden to move any stone (stone roller, stone mill, stone mortar etc...). As a sign of respect to the stones, some would burn incense and light candles. On a side note, during the ancient times, the tenth day was to celebrate the marriage of the mouse.

People will try to get the mouse married off to ensure a peaceful and lucky year, because legends from the South of Yangtze River believed that the mouse is harmful and unlucky. On this day, in order not to disturb the mice, families are to go to bed early and not open any boxes or cabinets.

Try to avoid or postpone making any major decisions on this day, as it could lead to less than ideal results. This day is also unfavourable for matters relating to construction.
